THE ALIEN FACTOR: 40TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

Street Date: 1/9/2018
SRP: $14.99
Cost:

Synopsis:

Director Don Dohler's homage to the classic sci-fi 1950's creature features, THE ALIEN FACTOR (1978), has endured the passage of time to become the standard "comfort food" of a generation of eager aficionados. Filmed in Baltimore, Maryland, the movie boasts a gaggle of monster suits, clever miniatures and even a stop-motion beast brought to life by then-aspiring animation wizard, Ernest D. Farino (The Terminator). Local actors Don Leifert, Dick Dyszel, Eleanor Herman and George Stover infuse the film with an enthusiastic zest that belies the film's tiny budget, adding immeasurably to the charm that is THE ALIEN FACTOR. This special 40th Anniversary Edition contains extensive bonus features including cast & crew audio commentary, behind-the-scenes featurette, blooper reel, alternate scenes, cast & crew reunion featurette, Retromedia Drive-in Theater episode wrap-arounds.

THE ALIEN DEAD

Street Date: 1/9/2018
SRP: $14.99
Cost:

Synopsis:

Filmed deep in the swamps of Central Florida, THE ALIEN DEAD (1980) barely squeezed by on its meager shoestring budget of $12,000. Graduating to 16mm color film from his earlier black & white effort THE BRAIN LEECHES (1978), burgeoning filmmaker Fred Olen Ray crafted an astonishingly crude tale of aquatic zombies and the characters who would become their victims. In what would later become a trademark of Ray's work, the movie features serial icon, Buster Crabbe (Flash Gordon), a marquee star from the director's childhood. The film has, at times, a strange gauzy, nightmare-like quality hanging over it: a surreal, netherworld of dream images that threaten to engulf the characters. Scratch your head in awe and wonder at THE ALIEN DEAD. Also included here is the director's first feature effort, THE BRAIN LEECHES, along with a revealing commentary track, plus an unadvertised bonus, THE HALLOWEEN PLANET, an unaired children's TV Special featuring serial SUPERMAN, Kirk Alyn and the cast and crew of ALIEN DEAD, along with a new commentary track. Presented in 1.85 enhanced-widescreen.

RAT FINK

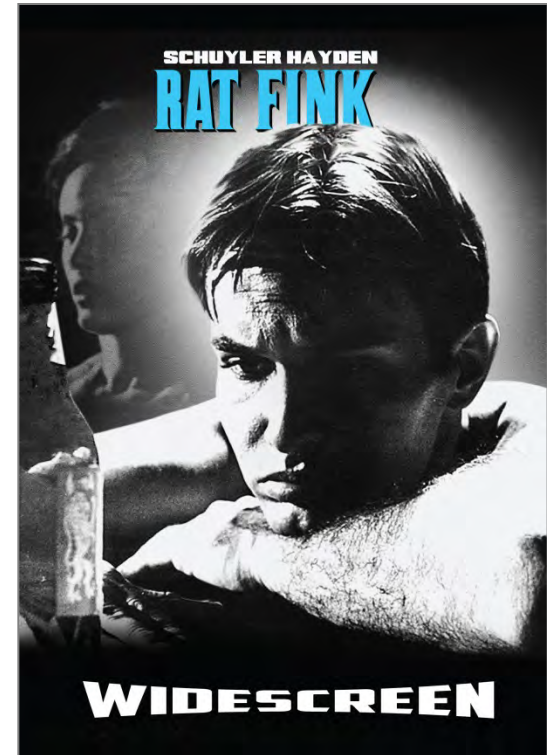

Street Date: 1/23/2018

SRP: $14.99

Cost:

Synopsis:

RAT FINK traces the brutal exploits of an ambitious sociopathic rock & roll singer who is capable of anything in his quest for fame and fortune. Surely, one of the most exciting cinematic finds of the year was the discovery of a 35mm print of RAT FINK. Considered lost for over 50 years, its original elements destroyed in a fire, a print was recently located in an old warehouse. Severely damaged by crippling arc burns, the print was successfully restored to its present condition by Retromedia and represents the final "missing link" in the stellar career of Oscar-winning cinematographer Vilmos Zsigmond (CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND). Cult director James Landis (THE SADIST) skillfully employs Zsigmond's brilliant black and white imagery to bring RAT FINK's story of betrayal, murder, and rock & roll to vivid life. The bizarre story of the film's history continues with its star, Schuyler Hayden, an enigmatic personality who mounted the production in an effort to achieve stardom after only appearing a spattering of small, inconsequential roles on TV. His performance here is outstanding, generating solid reviews from Variety and other showbiz journals which at one point compared him to a young Warren Beatty. Special Features include a new 2K HD 16x9 transfer, Video Featurette "Remembering Schuyler Hayden" with Hayden's daughter, Ursula Hayden, "RAT FINK: A Look Back" Video Featurette, and a 35mm Widescreen Trailer.

PHANTOM FROM SPACE/FROZEN ALIVE DOUBLE FEATURE DVD

Street Date: 1/23/2018
SRP: $14.99
Cost:

Synopsis:

A double-feature DVD featuring widescreen versions of these two retro science fiction favorites.

- PHANTOM FROM SPACE (1953) tells the amazing story of an alien invasion... perpetrated by a single, lone spaceman! In an effort to elude his would-be captors, the creature is forced to ditch his special spacesuit, rendering him invisible! His efforts to communicate prove futile and without the gas supply provided by his unique helmet, he also discovers he can't breathe on Earth either! It's a no-win situation for the unlucky man from beyond. More science fiction hi-jinks from film director W. Lee Wilder (THE SNOW CREATURE, KILLERS FROM SPACE).
- FROZEN ALIVE (1964) is the grim tale of a respected scientist who decides, perhaps foolishly, to experiment on himself.
