INSIDE SPORTFISHING: GOING VERTICAL - WATERFALL RESORT

Street Date: 6/12/2018
SRP: $19.99
Cost:

Synopsis:

The Waterfall Resort, located on the western side of Prince of Wales Island, about a 40-minute float plane ride from Ketchikan, offers anglers, of all skill levels, an opportunity to do battle with some of the hardest fighting fish in the world: from giant halibut to world record chinooks and cohos. This one hundred year old converted cannery is the ultimate Alaskan adventure. Join us as we team up with head guide, Scott McKelvey and veteran guides John Takata and Sam Kaeli and "GO VERTICAL" in search of the legendary giant lings. Working the high spots, these guys put us on the best cod fishing any of us had ever seen. We were getting hammered on every drop, with fish inhaling the baits before they even hit the bottom. A lot of the fish we couldn't even turn on the 100 pound spectra and ended up getting rocked. But those we did manage to turn were topping the 50 pound mark. If you love lowering offerings to the depths, then this is one you'll watch over and over.
